VOLUNTEER DE-TAILS

Volunteer Spotlight: Kazumi Tsai

If the cats at our East Campus location could talk, they would say that their favorite person is volunteer Kazumi Tsai. Not only because Kazumi always freshens up their food and water, as well as scooping out their litter, but because she genuinely cares. Kazumi is so dedicated to helping cats that she comes to the East Campus every day to ensure that every cat gets indulged with daily petting and neck scratches, play time with toys, manicures and pedicures and socialization with other cats. She even takes the time to build a small play zone in the back area where everyone in a cage can stretch their legs.

Saying “thank you” cannot express how much the East Campus staff appreciates Kazumi’s compassion and dedication. Yet, Kazumi doesn’t volunteer for any sort of accolades. She simply wants to make life a little brighter for the animals in our care until they are able to find someone who will love them forever. Kazumi comes every day (and even brings in her husband, Craig, on Saturdays). She comes to improve the lives of our homeless animals, and make a difference in the world. And that is exactly what she is doing, always with a smile on her face.

For more information about how you can volunteer, visit kyhumane.org.

In addition to enriching the lives of the cats at the East Campus, Kazumi also improves the lives of every employee. Since Kazumi started volunteering back in August, there has never been a task she couldn’t handle. Whether it be bathing a cat, cleaning up after puppies, cleaning cages, doing dishes, switching loads of laundry or even giving medicine, Kazumi has never said no. Having a volunteer so flexible and happy to help every day makes everyone’s day that much better – both “fur baby” and human.

Two Paws Up to Donna Tooley and Cindy Burke for pampering all of our dogs! This Dynamic Duo is here each and every week to help walk the dogs and show them some extra love and attention. Together, they walk more than 20 dogs each day that they volunteer, giving them all their much needed exercise. The dogs are lucky to have you two!

Two Paws Up to Outstanding Volunteers!

Two Paws Up to Diana Yeager!

Diana helps the photography team every Tuesday by locating animals in all areas of the building to get their picture taken for our website. Tough at times, Diana always does her job with a smile on her face. Later on Tuesdays, she also helps out at the East Campus in addition to volunteering at S.N.I.P. throughout the week. Thanks for your hard work!

Two Paws Up to Jane Osborne!

Thanks to Jane for her commitment as a kitty comfort volunteer assisting with cat socialization in the cat room. She also helps out at the S.N.I.P. Clinic and comes in every week to help give the cats extra TLC! We can always depend on her to give the cats lots of love!

ASK THE EXPERTS

KHS Staff Answer Your Questions

Now that the weather is so cold, I haven't been able to take my Border Collie mix on the long walks he is accustomed to. He's bored and starting to get really antsy. What are some things that I can do to keep him entertained? — Butch West, Louisville, KY

It can be difficult to provide adequate exercise for an active dog when temperatures drop. Luckily, there are lots of fun games that you can play indoors that will not only provide exercise and entertainment but will also keep your training skills sharp.

Recall (or coming when called) is easy to practice inside. Grab a partner and stand on opposite sides of a room. Call your dog and as soon as he reaches you, drop a tasty treat on the ground. Once he eats the treat, that's your partner's cue to start calling to the dog. When the dog reaches your partner, she can drop a treat on the ground and you can start calling the dog back to you. Repeat this until your dog is excitedly racing back and forth between the two of you. This is called a Ping-Pong Recall and works wonders for dogs who are resistant to coming back to you.

Another great indoor game is Hide-and-Seek. Pick an easy hiding spot at first, like crouching behind a couch while you and your dog are in the same room. Call to your dog and, when he finds you, give him a treat or some enthusiastic praise. As your dog gets the hang of the game, make your hiding spots more difficult by going to a different room or even a different floor of the house. Before long, your dog will be dashing around the house in search of you.

Yet another great way for your dog to burn some energy is at the Kentucky Humane Society's Doggie Daycare! Your dog gets to play with his canine friends, and you get to pick up a worn out pooch at the end of the day. Daycare services are available at three KHS locations – our East Campus, Eastpoint Pet Resort and Fern Creek Pet Resort. Call (502) 366-3355 for more information.

These and other training games ("Learning Games for Dogs" by Kay Laurence has some great tips) stave off winter boredom by keeping your dog physically and mentally active with the added bonus of helping you to have a well-behaved pup by spring!

BY THE NUMBERS

(September - November 2010)

cats and dogs were adopted at one of our nine permanent adoption sites. Of that, 503 were felines and 1,007 were canines. 208 pets found homes during our Home for the Holidays adoption special in November and 37 found homes during the Black Friday adoption special.

pets were spayed or neutered at our high-quality, low-cost S.N.I.P. Clinic. Since opening in 2007, the clinic has altered nearly 35,000 cats and dogs. During the Snip & Chip in October, 94 pit bulls received free spay/neuter surgeries. During the Neuter-a-Thon in November, 89 cats were neutered in a single day.

38

children participated in the KHS Santa Paws workshop on their holiday break. During the workshop, children made and wrapped gifts for their pets in addition to learning more about the shelter and the importance of being kind to animals.

FROM THE DESK OF

Lori Kane Redmon, President-CEO

Partnering together for the good of all pets in our community

During the last year, the Kentucky Humane Society (KHS) has made tremendous strides in improving the lives of animals in our community. Our Main Campus Improvement Project was completed; we increased our adoption numbers for the seventh consecutive year; and, by working with other animal welfare groups, KHS was able to take in nearly 500 more transfers than the previous year.

In an effort to further increase the number of lives saved, KHS has developed two new initiatives to help even more area pets find forever homes. The first is the implementation of a new structural approach: Admissions by Appointment. This change allows KHS staff to spend time counseling owners over the phone prior to surrender, as well as gain more information about their animal at the time of surrender. It also gives staff the opportunity to become better acquainted with animals, which will result in better adoption matches.

Once admitted to KHS, all dogs and cats undergo health and behavior evaluations and, if deemed adoptable, pets are placed for adoption at one of nine area adoption sites. There is no set time period for pets to find a new home – pets remain up for adoption as long as health and behavior permit. While there are some circumstances in which animals cannot be made available for adoption, KHS does not euthanize animals as a method of population control, nor due to lack of kennel space.

To help find homes for otherwise unadoptable cats, KHS, in partnership with Alley Cat Advocates and Metro Animal Services, recently introduced a Barn Cat program. Cats in this program are feral, meaning they are a subpopulation of free-roaming cats. While these cats can make wonderful pets, they thrive best in an environment where they are able to live outdoors instead of being confined in a home. Giving these cats the opportunity to be adopted into surroundings they are comfortable with ensures they will live fulfilling lives.

The staff and volunteers of KHS believe in lifelong commitments to companion animals and work tirelessly to create and maintain such a bond. Though thousands of unwanted and neglected animals come through our doors each year, we are working to end the suffering of cats and dogs and offer hope that a better tomorrow truly can start today.

Three of a Kind

I just wanted to let you know that our adopted Beagle/Basset mix, Baxter, is doing great! His "real" personality emerged about two months ago, and we could not have made a better choice for our household.

He has made friends with our other dogs and snuggles with us whenever we sit down. He's a lazy little guy, which is perfect for our schedule and lifestyle. We will encourage everyone looking for a dog to adopt from the Kentucky Humane Society (KHS) as you have been so very helpful, not just on adoption day but every day since. The support KHS offers throughout the year is fantastic and we love that there is now a location in Lyndon.

Thank you for saving Baxter so that he could find his way to our home!

New Love for Aphrodite

In October 2010, I decided I was ready to adopt another cat after my Celeste abruptly died at the age of seven-years-old. One afternoon after work, I came into the Main Campus and started meeting the cats that were up for adoption. It didn't take me long to get acquainted with the cat formerly known as Aphrodite.

Her keen interest in me and sweet disposition won my heart immediately. Her beautiful green eyes and soft, long coat made me smile. That evening I went to the store to prepare for her arrival and two days later I returned to pick up my cat, now known as Anna Belle. Now she rules the coop, whether she's tearing through the apartment at break neck speed or climbing onto my laptop to help me surf the web. She is constantly getting into mischief sneaking sips from my glass of water or prowling the countertops when I'm not looking. Anna Belle and I thank the Kentucky Humane Society!

— Koree Fugate

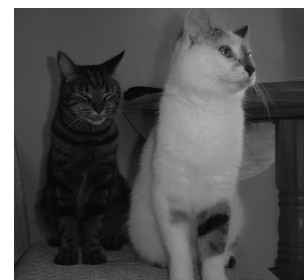

Rain and Emily

Our new cat, Emily, has integrated very nicely into our home, and is really a very unique cat! She enjoys being around us all the time and provides a great deal of love and affection to us every day. She took a short amount of time to get used to our other cat, but he was very happy to have her right away. They are now the best of friends and enjoy each other's company at all times. She's well and healthy and we're so happy to have her be a part of our family.

We are so happy to have them and that we could give them a new home after the great care the Kentucky Humane Society gave them.

Kentucky Humane Society Adoptable Dog Plays Role of Toto

Kentucky Humane Society (KHS) pets truly shined on the stage in 2010! First there was Pupperts, who starred as Sandy in a production of “Annie” with Music Theatre Louisville. More recently, a two-year-old Yorkshire Terrier formerly known as Snickers starred as Toto in Presentation Academy’s production of “The Wizard of Oz.” After he was brought to KHS as a stray, it was clear that he would be great for the part.

The bright lights of the stage were no fear for Toto as he either pranced along or was carried in Dorothy’s basket. According to cast and crew, he did a wonderful job and was loved by not only everyone on set – but the audience each night as well. While the Cowardly Lion sought courage, the Tin Man a heart and the Scarecrow a brain, Toto was in search of a home to call his own.

While many wanted to play the role of a family for Toto, in the end it was the actress who played Dorothy, Kimberly Holikamp, and her family who gave this needy Yorkie his forever home. They also officially changed his name to that of the famous terrier. Kimberly and her family have been blessed to have this new family member and mom, Patti, says that he is “doing fantastic!”

“Our older dog, Casey, loves Toto,” Patti says. “She is older [nine-years-old] but lets Toto roll around on her and chew on her ears. They really love each other.”

The family also notes that, while Toto does love to play, he is a huge fan of snuggling as well. Though he is very well housebroken, Kimberly’s grandmother picks up Toto (and Casey) every afternoon so that they do not have to be home alone and can have play dates with other dogs in the extended family! Though Toto once roamed the streets looking for love, he is clearly living the good life now!

NEWS BRIEFS: What's Happening at KHS

Main Campus Improvement Project Completed

Great news for animals, visitors and staff at the Kentucky Humane Society's (KHS) Main Campus on Steedly Drive – the second phase of our Main Campus Improvement Project has been completed!

The new adoption and admissions areas are now open and fully operational.

The new adoption area is warmer and welcoming and allows you, our supporters, to more easily view and interact with adoptable pets. Cats are able to roam and play with one another in their new cat condo, while dogs and puppies enjoy their new state of the art kennels.

The new admissions area has improved efficiency, safety and health measures at the Main Campus. Much more space is available for housing and treating pets and a new HVAC ventilation system ensures that sick and healthy pets do not breathe the same air.

Our paved walkway of dedication stones will be laid as soon as weather permits construction of the KHS dedication garden. The garden will include several benches generously donated by Randy Meek of Oxford Gardens, creating a space for people and pets to relax and reflect.

We hope that you will visit the improved facility soon to see for yourself!

Improved admissions lobby, with separate sides for dogs and cats

New, welcoming adoption lobby with more open space and viewing areas

Animal Adventure Campers will enhance their learning through arts and crafts, guest speakers, educational videos and skits. Children will build a sense of kindness, respect and responsibility for animals and life.

Charlie the Cat - Homeward Bound!

On October 4, a cat (later learned to be named Charlie) was brought into the Kentucky Humane Society as a stray after being found in someone's backyard. Sick with infection, the Siamese kitty was treated by KHS vets and scanned for a microchip. A microchip was found and the information provided stated that the owner lived in New York City!

After calling the owner, staff learned that the owner had not seen Charlie in 10 years but had missed him terribly the entire time! He was anxious to find a way to reclaim his long lost friend. His sister was able to help him secure a pilot's help in getting Charlie home.

Charlie ended up enjoying a helicopter ride from Bowman Field to another airport, where he was flown straight to New York City and back into his owner's arms!

Help for Barn Cats and Little Dogs

New Programs Give Needy Pets a Second Chance at a Happy Home

The Kentucky Humane Society (KHS) recently launched two new programs to help animals in our care who may have a more difficult time finding their forever homes. KHS strives each day to put in place proactive measures in order to find homes for as many homeless animals as possible. Our innovative and forward-thinking staff constantly form new strategies for placing these animals in their forever homes. These programs are just two of our most recent plans of action.

Within our Little Dog Program, small dogs with aggression issues go through special behavior training with KHS Behavior Leader Kat Rooks. These issues could include handling sensitivities, resource aggression and/or barrier aggression. Previously, these dogs could have been sent to another rescue but with behavior rehabilitation we are able to help them find their forever homes. Those who adopt these dogs must sign a waiver stating that they realize he/she has shown aggression in the past. However, many of these issues are improved upon or even solved completely with patience, time and training!

The Little Dog Program has already helped many animals, two of which were sibling Chihuahuas, Bruno and Chloe. The pair were surrendered to KHS by their original owner because they had too many animals. They were incredibly nervous, could not walk on a leash and Bruno was so terrified while in the admissions area that he snapped at anyone who attempted to get him out of his kennel. To get him out, Kat placed Chloe in a basket, held it to the edge of Bruno's kennel and lured him with dog treats in order to get him out.

Once Bruno and Chloe began training in the program, their behavior began to turn around quickly. They worked on loose leash walking and, after a week or so, were able to politely walk around the shelter on their leashes. The first time they explored the play yard, they were terrified and hid from any noises. But with continued gradual exposure, their confidence increased and they began to relish their time outside. In fact, they grew to love the outdoors and would run the yard, wrestling with each other happily. The two were so bonded to one another that it was required they be adopted as a pair. They have now happily been in their forever home for more than three months.

The new Barn Cat Placement Program is a partnership between KHS, Alley Cat Advocates and Metro Animal Services. This program is for cat lovers who have a barn or other secure outdoor structure (such as a garage, warehouse or factory) and are interested in adopting cats not suited for life inside of a house or are unhappy living inside.

There are three types of cats in this program:

- True feral cats who have been trapped and want nothing to do with humans
- Semi-feral cats, used to being around humans and not as frightened, but still keep any interaction to a minimum
- "Friendlies" - cats who can't be placed as regular lap kitties due to issues such as minor biting or scratching or inappropriate litter box use, but do like people and, on occasion, will seek you out for attention.

If you are looking for a "mouser" or working cat, come visit our "barn cats" at the Main Campus today. You may also call (502) 366-3355 for more information on either of these programs.
